

10 UNIQUE THINGS TO DO IN VERONA!

Teatro Romano

The Roman Theatre of Verona is an ancient Roman amphitheater located in the heart of the historic center of Verona, built in the 1st century AD during the period of the Roman Empire. It was primarily used for theatrical performances but could also host other public events and games. Today, part of the ancient theater houses the Archaeological Museum at the Roman Theatre. Climbing to the upper level of the theater, you can enjoy a panoramic view of the city of Verona, including the majestic Arena di Verona.

Piazza delle Erbe all'alba

This lively square, visited early in the morning to avoid the crowd and admire the tranquil and authentic atmosphere, will be able to create unique emotions! Piazza delle Erbe is one of the main squares in the historic center of Verona, located in the heart of the city. Dating back to the Roman era, it was the main forum of the city. The square is surrounded by historic buildings with vibrant colors and frescoed facades. Exploring the square at dawn allows you to admire it in all its beauty in a magical moment of the day.

Via Sottoriva

This narrow pedestrian street along the Adige River is a charming and less frequented place that offers a different perspective of the city. It is an ideal spot for a leisurely stroll and to discover the unique atmosphere of this charming Italian city. Along the way, you will find small artisan shops, souvenir stores, and restaurants offering a variety of local products and handmade items.

San Giorgio in Braida

Dating back to the 9th century, although the current structure is largely the result of a reconstruction in the 16th-century Renaissance style. Inside San Giorgio in Braida, there is a distinctive floor with a spiral-shaped labyrinth, the 'Labyrinth of Juliet,' and it is considered a symbol of eternal love. You can follow the path of the labyrinth to the center and celebrate your love!

Castello di Montorio

Located just outside Verona, this 14th-century castle is a fascinating place that reflects imposing medieval architecture with towers and stone walls. Although not open to the public, a trip outside the historic center of Verona can be a worthwhile alternative to appreciate the natural beauty of the surrounding hills and immerse yourself in the rich local food and wine culture, with the castle serving as a backdrop to this unique experience!

Villa Arvedi

This 18th-century villa features elegant neoclassical architecture, with an imposing colonnaded portico and a symmetrical facade. It is surrounded by an extensive park with Italian gardens. This villa is notably known for its historic cellars, where some of the finest wines from the Verona area, including the renowned Amarone wine, are produced. Guided tours of the cellars at Villa Arvedi can be booked to learn more about winemaking and to taste their exquisite wines.

Tomba di Giulietta

Not a destination for everyone, but if you want to fully experience the most dramatic love story of all time, Juliet's Tomb is a must.

It is located within the former convent of the Capuchin friars dating back to the 13th century, which today also houses a Museum of Frescoes by G.B. Cavalcaselle.

Castelvecchio

This imposing medieval castle is now a museum housing an extensive art collection, including masterpieces by artists such as Pisanello and Mantegna. Built between 1354 and 1376 during the rule of the Scaligera family, one of Verona's most powerful noble families. In 1923, Castelvecchio was converted into an art museum hosting a rich collection of artworks, including paintings, sculptures, furnishings, medieval art objects, and archaeological finds, providing visitors with a comprehensive overview of Verona's artistic history.

San Zeno Maggiore

This Romanesque church is one of the most important places of worship in Verona and is renowned for its bronze reliefs and its bell tower. Built in the 10th century, it is named after Saint Zeno, the patron saint of Verona.

It features a façade with a beautiful sculpted portal and a series of bas-reliefs depicting religious stories and scenes from daily life. The interior consists of three naves with columns and rounded arches, adorned with medieval frescoes. One of the artistic treasures of the church is the 'Pala d'oro,' a richly decorated golden altar dating back to the 13th century.

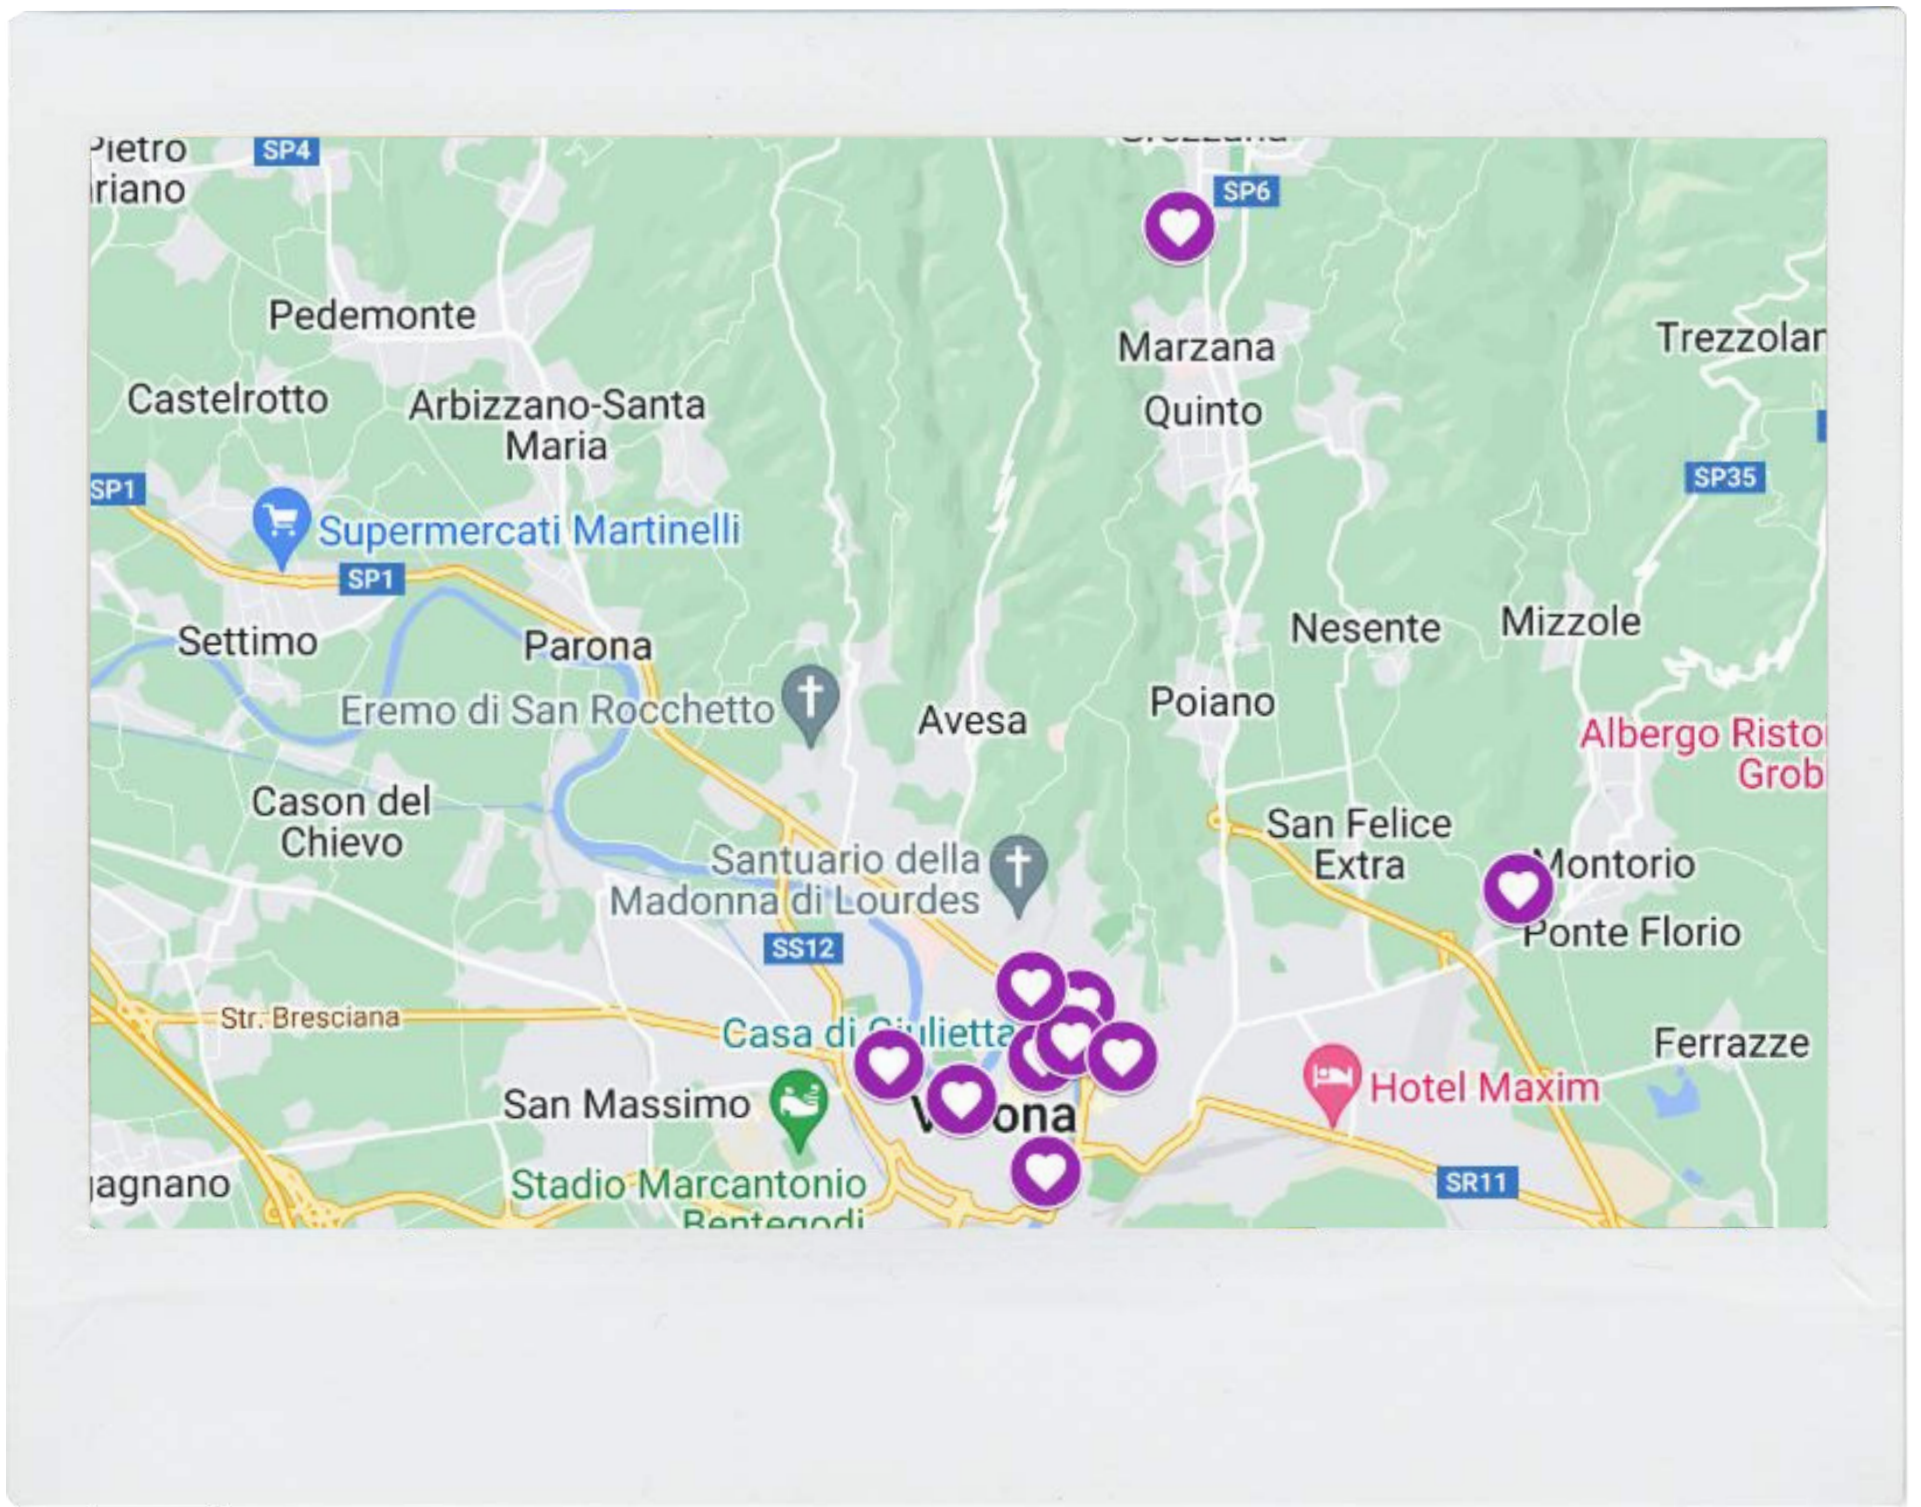

Giardino Giusti

This charming Renaissance garden is an oasis of tranquility in the heart of Verona, featuring mazes, panoramic terraces, and stunning views of the city. The garden was created as a place of retreat, reflection, and entertainment, and is one of the oldest Italian-style gardens in Europe. Dating back to the 16th century, the garden is divided into terraced levels that offer different panoramic perspectives of the city of Verona. One of the highlights of the Giusti Garden is the 'Terrace of the Views,' which provides a spectacular view of the city, including the Arena and the cathedral's bell tower.
